Row Marks Committee Hearing On Watson Charges; Truculent Southerner Threatens To Slap Officer

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The meeting of the senate committee investigating charges of Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, that soldiers had been illegally landed in France, broke up in a row Friday after Senator Watson had threatened to slap the face of an army officer sitting in the audience.

Chairman Brandegee of the committee, taking hold of an awkward situation, declared that no person in the room should be injured. This statement was made after Watson walked up close to Major George D. Cochran and shaking his finger in his face, exclaimed: "I am not a soldier. I am a senator. I will slap your face."

"If he looks at me again that way I will slap his face," the Georgia senator declared.

Adding that he would not remain with the committee to be "bull-dozed" by this "bull-jawed brute."

"Take your seat, Senator Watson," Senator Brandegee demanded.

"I'll retire first," he replied.

"Take your seat or retire," the chairman said.

Chairman Brandegee called for the sergeant-at-arms and Senator Watson sat down. Then turning to the Georgia senator the chairman asked if he wanted the army officers present, including Walter E. Reibel, General Bushing's judge advocate general in France, to retire.

"Yes," said Senator Watson.

Officers Turned Out

"Well, get out," said the chairman, and the officers retired. Major Cochran had not been called as a witness and sat silent while Senator Watson was launching a verbal attack upon him. The senator told the committee that he had been insulted by the number in which the officer had looked at him.

Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, objected to the attack, stating that the committee had every desire to give Senator Watson a full hearing, that it had not prejudged the case, and that the senator's statement to that effect was absolutely without foundation. Senator Watson began a discussion of the case with respect to certain evidence he expected to produce after the officers had retired.

"Not Afraid" Says Watson

There was an exchange between Mr. Brandegee and Mr. Watson regarding certain conversations relating to procedure and the presence of army officers while the Georgia senator was presenting his witnesses. The exchange became very heated and Senator Watson shouted: "I am not afraid of you."

"Nor I of you," Chairman Brandegee replied, banging the table. The chairman went on to say that there had been no disposition in the minds of the committee to be unfair to Mr. Watson and that it was not right for him to impugn the committee's motives.

Adjourn Hearing

Hearings were adjourned until Saturday and the committee held an executive session.

Senator Watson, at the resumption of the inquiry, protested against the decision of the committee to confine the inquiry solely to the question of landings.

"My charges were broader," he protested against these charges being narrowed. "I want it understood that I am going into the shooting of men by their officers."

The committee suggested that it might be necessary to go before the senate and ask that the resolution directing the inquiry be enlarged.

Cites Roosevelt Statement

Charles Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., corroborates my statement that a soldier was shot by an officer," Senator Watson declared. "It was testified at the trial that the officer shot the soldier without provocation whatsoever."

"Do you want Colonel Roosevelt called as a witness?" the senator was asked.

"No, I would not embarrass him," Mr. Watson went on to say he proposed to try the case on the floor of the senate.

Sensor Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, told the senator the committee was not going into irrelevant matters, but were determined to give him a fair hearing.

"From the time I came into this room, I felt the committee had prejudged this case in secret sessions," the senator shouted.

"That statement is absolutely without foundation," Senator Shields shot back.

As the army officers retired from the committee room Chairman Brandegee asked Senator Watson if he wanted the audience driven out.

"No, indeed," he said, "these officers sat there and eyed me with an insolence that caused by southern blood; I beg the pardon of this committee."

FRANCE SURE TO COME INTO 4-POWER PACT

Press and Official Circles in Paris Receive Plan With Great Satisfaction Say Dispatches

FINAL AGREEMENT WAITS FOR WORD FROM MIKADO

Arms Parley Pauses Except for Sino-Japanese Conversations About Shantung

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—The Japanese cabinet has been called to meet Saturday, probably to take final action on the naval ratio question which has been submitted to Tokyo by Japan's arms conference delegation, it was learned Friday.

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—France's acceptance of the quadruple agreement for the Pacific is considered certain in official circles although the draft received from St. Vrain of the French delegation in Washington is regarded as a suggested outline and not a perfected plan.

Action here upon the agreement is expected shortly.

Official circles as well as the press have received with the greatest satisfaction the idea of France's participation in this accord.

Parley Slows Up

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—The rapidly moving arms conference had reached a point of comparative pause, with the far eastern committee in adjournment until Saturday and the next important step in the negotiations on naval ratio and the proposed four-power treaty apparently waiting on a definite statement of the attitude of the Japanese government.

Meanwhile the Japanese and Chinese delegations were scheduled to hold another session Friday of their separate conference on the Shantung question, discussion of the restoration to China of the public properties in the Japanese leasehold there having been continued Thursday without final disposition.

As a major feature in the prospective agreements the question of limitation of fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific islands had been brought into prominence for the first time.

Although the subject has not advanced to the stage of formal changes, the American delegates have given assurances to the Japanese that it would be considered as a natural corollary of the naval reduction plan and pointing to an ultimate agreement on the principle of abandonment of further development of the island defenses.

DAIL EIREANN CALLED TO MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY TO ACT ON PEACE AGREEMENT

Terms are in Conflict With Wishes of the People. Says Leader; Government Circles Express Belief Pact Will be Ratified

LONDON.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reputation by Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, of the agreement reached between the British and Irish plenipotentiaries for the establishment of the Irish free state and the resultant split in the Dail Eireann cabinet overshadowed all other developments in the Irish situation Friday.

In his statement declaring himself against the terms, Eamon De Valera, republican leader, announced that the Dail had been summoned in public session for next Wednesday morning.

Three are Opposed

He also disclosed that his attitude was supported by two members of his cabinet, Austin Stack and Charles Burgess. The other cabinet members are said to have remained firm in favor of the treaty. This split, with the odds favoring ratification, is pointed to here as a significant indication of the possible line-up of the Dail itself when the time for action arrives.

De Valera's Statement

Following is the text of Eamon De Valera's message to the Irish people, issued at 11:30 o'clock Friday night:

"You have seen in the public press the text of the proposed treaty with Great Britain. The terms of this agreement are in violent conflict with the wishes of the majority of this nation as expressed freely at successive elections in the last three years."

"I feel it my duty to inform you immediately that I cannot recommend acceptance of this treaty either to the Dail Eireann or to the country. In this attitude I am supported by the ministers of home affairs and defense. A public session of the Dail Eireann is being summoned for Wednesday at 11 o'clock in the morning."

Urges People to Remain Calm

"I ask the people to maintain during the interval the same discipline as heretofore. The members of the cabinet, though of divided opinions, are prepared to carry on public services as usual. The army, as such, is, of course, not affected by the political situation and continues, under the same orders and control."

"The great test of our people has come. Let us face it worthily, without bitterness, and above all, without recriminations. There is a definite constitutional way of resolving our political differences. Let us not depart from it, and let the conduct of the cabinet in this matter be an example to the whole nation."

The receipt of the news of De Valera's opposition to the agreement immediately raised two questions:

"What will be the outcome of the division among Irish leaders as effecting the decision of the Dail Eireann upon the agreement?"

"What effect will the situation in South Ireland have upon the British government's attitude and the opening of the imperial parliament for consideration of the agreement?"

Parliament Opens Wednesday

The best opinion is that the split will not affect the plans for the opening of parliament.

The agreement was made between the British government and plenipotentiaries representing the Dail, and it will be placed before the house of commons and the house of lords in the king's speech.

Then, after Premier Lloyd George in the lower house and Lord Birkenhead in the upper chamber have explained and supported the agreement, a brief adjournment will be taken to await the vote of the dail which meets the same day.—next Wednesday.

The sessions of the dail are considered here as likely to be prolonged and lively, for it is composed of young men with strong views which they are in the habit of expressing with force.

DEATH OF WORKMAN REPORTED AS RESULT OF STOCKYARDS RIOT

Man Dies of Gunshot Wounds Received in Fighting of Wednesday Night

MANY OF STRIKERS RETURNING TO WORK CLAIM OF PACKERS

Strike Hundred Percent Effective is Union Claim

CHICAGO, Ill.—The first death from violence in the Stock Yards strike was reported Friday. George E. 25, between, died of gunshot wounds received Wednesday night. Police said the man was shot by a motorcade policeman after he had thrown several bricks.

The situation assumed a brighter aspect Friday with optimistic statements from packers, and on reports of violence. According to packing-house officials the strikers are returning to work and those with the men employed have placed the plants on a nearly normal working basis.

Dennis Lane, secretary of the Packer Workmen's union, stated that 50,000 men are out in the various packing centers and that the strike is 100 per cent effective.

Swift & Company asserted that 175 former employees appeared for work Friday morning and were given their old jobs. Armour & Company stated many old men were returning and that the situation in their western plants was improving daily.

Morris and company reported their daily killings were about the same as before the strike.

Mechanics Go Out

Mechanics to the number of 1,500 employed at the Stock Yards went out on a sympathetic strike with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen according to an announcement from Chicago strike headquarters Friday. At the same time optimistic statements were issued by the packers, all stating their plants were operating at nearly capacity.

POLICE PERFORM MIRACLE SPEECH AND HEARING OF "DEAF MUTE" IS RESTORED

POLICE headquarters was the scene of real comedy Friday morning shortly after Thomas Atkins of Denver, Colorado, erstwhile "mute," was arrested on suspicion of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Atkins under guise of a mute, was "working" the residential district in the vicinity of Twenty-second and Madison streets when a report was telephoned the police regarding the man. Officers covered the surrounding territory several times before he was found.

Atkins carried a pamphlet on which twenty-six "subscribers" had already signed their names with accompanying contributions ranging from ten cents to one dollar. Above the columns where the names were attached was printed by hand the following: "Being so unfortunate as to lose my speech and hearing through illness I am trying to get enough money to enter a mute school and be self supporting by learning a trade. Kindly help me if you are able." Signed "Thomas Atkins". He had collected $3.46 when approached by the police.

On the trip to the station in the police car, Atkins maintained his "mute" attitude but remarks and threats came by officers at Central station were too much for him. "Well, that's better than knocking 'em on the head for it," he burst out after attempts to suppress laughter utterly failed. "I was just out of a job and had to do some-thing. No, this is the first time I have tried it in and when I saw the coppers coming I knew the jig was up."

"See you boys in about a month," he added with a smile as he was ushered into the cell-room.

10-CENT WAGE CUT FOR ROAD WORKERS ORDERED BY COUNTY

State Road Committee Fixes New Scale at 25c an Hour; Stone Contract Awarded

The wages of county road workers has been cut 10 cents an hour, from 25 cents an hour to 15 cents. The scale of 25 cents a hour for teams will continue to prevail. The wage cut was decided upon at a meeting of the state road and bridge committee and the various town chairmen Thursday afternoon.

It also was voted that where night work is ordered on roads by town boards the workmen will receive time and a half.

A contract was awarded to Alfred Kins for 450 yards of stone for the Larson Center road.

It was announced that a settlement for $7,500 had been reached with William Weimer, who was fighting the proposed road to connect Trank Highway 34 with the Frankman ridge road. As first proposed the prospective road cut through the Weimer farm, between the orchard and farmstead. There was a sharp bend in the road built in the road to protect the estate. The question finally was settled by surveying the road through the center of the orchard and straightening out the bend.

SETTLEMENT IN THE OGODZISKI CASES IS LAWYERS' PROPOSAL

Attorneys Enter into Tentative Agreement; Further Litigation Stayed Pending Acceptance

Attorneys in all three cases of Adam and Mary Ogodziski against the Rev. Andrew Gara of the Polish Catholic church of Independence, and Charles Marsolek and Simon Skroek, trustees of the church, late Thursday afternoon entered into a written stipulation for the settlement of all three cases.

Further court proceedings have been stayed until the January term of circuit court pending acceptance of the tentative settlements.

In the first trial of Adam Ogodziski's case in Whitehall, he obtained a judgment for $2,000 against Father Gara, Marsolek and Skroek. The case was appealed to the supreme court and a new trial based on error of instruction to the jury by the judge was ordered. In the first trial of Mary Ogodziski's case, she obtained a judgment for $8,000. This case also was appealed to the supreme court and a new trial was ordered by the defense and the higher tribunal.

The second trial of Adam Ogodziski was completed last Friday, after a hard fought legal battle lasting five days. Ogodziski got verdict for five days from the jury of $2,000 more than the first jury awarded. Ogodziski was ordered to pay the costs of the case and his wife living in the church and his wife living in the church and his wife living in the church.

The Ogodziskis resulted, it is charged in a disbarment, Ogodziski sued for damages for alleged loss of services of his wife due to her physical and nervous condition.

Ogodziski had a third suit pending in the courts at Whitehall, against Father Gara, asking for $500, which Ogodziski contended was still due on his contract. Cowie and Hale of La Crosse and John A. Marslak of Independence were the lawyers for the Ogodziskis, while Higgins and Swones and John Kilgus of Independence, represented Father Gara.

Quincy Hale left for the east Thursday night to place the proposed settlement before his firm's clients. The settlement did not appear in person at the second trial.

MICHIGAN INVITES LORENZ

LANSING, Mich.—Dr. Adolph Lorenz was formally invited to Michigan Friday by Governor A. J. Groesbeck.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR AUTO INJURIES IS SETTLED BY LAWYERS

The damage suit brought by Leo R. Smith against the Certinized Products Corporation for $50,000, has been settled out of court by the lawyers. Gordon, Law & Gordon and Lees & Bunge. The amount of the settlement is said to be approximately $5,000.

Smith was riding in an auto, driven by a salesman for the Certinized concern, a W. T. Bergen of Minneapolis. They were riding over the causeway on the Wisconsin side, opposite Winona. The auto left the road, plunged over the bank and upset. Smith was injured and charged the driver with negligence. The accident happened in November, 1920.

DEATH PENALTY FOR CHURCH TO BE ASKED BY STATE ATTORNEY

CHICAGO, Ill.—The death penalty for Harvey W. Church, on trial for the murders of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Ausmus, automobile salesman, will be asked, Assistant State's Attorney Jonas informed the jury in the prosecution's opening statement Friday.

EMMA GOLDMAN LEAVES RUSSIA TO RETURN TO U. S.

RIGA, Latvia.—By The Associated Press.—Emma Goldman, who was deported to Russia from the United States in December 1919, as a result of her alleged anarchistic activities has left Moscow. She is believed to be in Riga with the intention of seeking permission to return to the United States.

Last Act Soon

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—So encouraging a situation has developed in the arms negotiations that some of the delegates believe an open session of the conference will be called early next week to announce agreement on the 5-5-3 naval ratio and the quadruple arrangement proposed as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

There are intimations that the negotiations are so close to a settlement that some conference officials had expected an open session Friday or Saturday. While the exact nature of the forthcoming announcement cannot be forecast, it seems probable that in addition to the naval ratio and the four power plan it may embody some formal pronouncement of the principles on which the conference expects to limit fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific.

Definite decision on the naval ratio question is now believed to hinge on a satisfactory solution of the problem of naval bases and island fortifications.

Armies Bother Japs

The matter of land armaments on American and British possessions lying near the Japanese empire has long been linked in the minds of the Japanese with possibility of reducing the Japanese Navy.

The Japanese frankly say that while it is difficult to determine, even from the standpoint of an expert, when a naval base ceases to be defensive and begins to be offensive in strength, they do not believe that the existing bases at the Philippines and Guam are of sufficient capacity and power to serve as adequate concentration stations for the entire American navy. The Japanese, therefore, seek, they thought, so definite assurance

NEW YORK.—Schedules proposing wage cuts from ten to thirty percent for train service, shop and maintenance of way employees of railroad lines north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi were formulated Friday at a conference of managers and supervising officials. The reductions which would take effect late this month must be submitted to the railroad labor board for rejection or approval.

The officials said the roads would begin separate conferences with their employees early next week on the proposed pay cuts.

Penn Road Enjoins Board

CHICAGO.—On a bill of complaint filed in federal court Friday, Judge K. M. Landis issued a temporary injunction restraining order preventing the United States railroad labor board from issuing a decision against the Pennsylvania railroad in their recent shop controversy.

Hearing on a permanent order will be held Saturday before Judge Landis.

The bill is the first legal action taken against the labor board in federal court. The petition of the carrier resulted from a citation to appear before the board October 20 when the board listened to the road's reasons for declining to carry out a board ruling, directing the carrier to hold negotiations with their employees over shop rules.

WORKING RULES FOR SECTION MEN TO BE ISSUED NEXT WEEK

Revised Rules to be Put Into Effect December 16 Announces Rail Board

CLEARs FEDERAL BOARD'S DOCKET OF PENDING CASES

Way Paved for Consideration of Wage Adjustment Cases

CHICAGO, Ill.—Revised rules governing working conditions of railway maintenance of way workmen will be promulgated December 14, to become effective December 16, it was announced by the United States railroad labor board Friday.

Because many rules already had been agreed upon between the railroads and the employees the board made rapid progress in constructing rules over which a dispute had arisen. The board's new rules will replace those of the maintenance of way national agreement, except in the cases of rules agreed to between the carriers and their men. Such rules, which are in the majority, will of course be effective on the roads where agreed upon.

Completion of the maintenance of way rules will clear the board's docket of all rule cases pending, leaving them free to take up wage adjustment cases as soon as they are filed.

FREE CHEST CLINIC AT VIROQUA SHOWS TUBERCULOSIS CASES

VIROQUA, Wis.—Among the 101 persons examined at the free chest clinic in this city, nine cases of tuberculosis were found. The free chest clinic was held by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, under the auspices of the Red Cross. The percentage of tuberculosis cases examined was lower than is the rule at these clinics. Other discoveries were: 12 cases of heart failure; 28 cases of thyroid; 10 cases of enlarged glands and a number of other conditions. One little school girl, not suspecting she had any trouble, was found to have serious heart trouble, and advised to leave school and devote herself to rest in order to recover.

MARK TWAIN FILM POKES FUN AT ALL THE HISTORY BOOKS

"Fun with a purpose" is what Mark Twain gave the world in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," which, presented by William Fox as a special screen production, is now playing at the Majestic theatre. Mark Twain wrote this great comic romance first to make the world laugh and second to "show up" King Arthur.

Twain had not a very high opinion of the Knights of the Round Table. He had heard too much about them. Roskin and William Morris had been feeding the public on the fashion to believe that everybody dead and gone was better than everybody alive. Twain's "Yankee" of the King's name, Mark Twain, took. He was tired of the Middle Ages. Ladies, languishing in high, inaccessible towers, waiting for knights to come and rescue them, did not appeal to him at all. He had been brought up on the Mississippi, and he had the idea that one Mississippi riverman was as good as several Knights of the Round Table, and probably a lot better. Sir Galahad, he considered a wishy-washy sort of hero; he preferred Tom Sawyer.

"I'll show up King Arthur and his well-known knights," said Mark Twain in effect. So he wrote a book describing the adventures of a modern, smart, clever young American at the court of King Arthur.

One of the first things this young American, Martin Cavanaugh, discovered was that Arthur and the Knights were victims of superstition. Then he discovered that the plumb line of King Arthur's castle was very bad indeed. The "valiant" knights did not take a bath any too often, and the ladies of the court were not particularly attractive.

Worst of all the Knights of the Round Table were no great shakes when it came to fighting. Martin, armed with a revolver and a lasso

FIRST CHRISTMAS PARDON OF BLAINE GOES TO REYNOLDS

MADISON, Wis.—An absolute pardon list, was granted by Governor Blaine late Thursday afternoon to Vernon Reynolds, who was convicted in Dunn county on October 18, 1920, of assisting in the theft of an automobile. He was sentenced to three years. The governor stated that in years ago Reynolds had been used as a tool and that with his wife at home in Illinois he had been sufficiently punished.

The sentence of C. F. Atherton, Milwaukee, who was convicted September 23, 1920, of operating a confidence game, was commuted from four to two years. This will allow Atherton to be placed on probation. The governor stated that this was Atherton's first offense and he felt that he was entitled to be placed on probation at this time.

WOMAN NEIGHBOR INVOLVES BURCH IN MURDER OF KENNEDY

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Mrs. Elizabeth Besant, a resident of Beverly Glen, near here, where J. Edgar Kennedy was killed August 5 last, and who testified Thursday she had seen Arthur C. Mrs. Besant was expected to be questioned closely by Burch's counsel as to her direct testimony that she had seen Kennedy drive up to his cottage in the Glen with Mrs.

HOPE OF THE HYPOCRITE
FOR what is the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taken away his soul?—Job 27: 8.

The Messages

THE country will be interested in President Harding's messages. With naval disarmament progressing, the president brings, not political peace, but a political sword.

Everyone will agree with the importance accorded the budget showing Dawes has cut half a billion off taxation, but it is probable that agreement will end there. The tariff measure, which the president asks for, is characterized by radicals and liberals as an instrument of special privilege. Offsetting its tendency to "make the common people pay", is the philosophy of the administration that what the country and the world need most are for business to go ahead, and that prosperity diffused among the masses by a business revival far outweighs the costs of living imposed upon the masses by the tariff. A similar argument applies to the ship subsidy. The interior of the country has repeatedly defeated such a measure. Two differences are set up today upon which a change of sentiment is asked. One is that we have the ships, and that to operate them profitably means general prosperity in which all sections and classes will participate; the other is that, having outgrown our home markets, we must have a strong merchant marine with which to compete in the world's markets for that business which is essential to national prosperity. The country's reaction to this argument will be awaited with interest. The plea for authority, thus far withheld, under which the executive may proceed to fund and adjust our foreign credits, is also classed as a business necessity and justified by the proposition that resumption of barter and sale the world over depends upon the stabilization of international finance.

One purely political contention of the president goes to a question more or less vital to any republic and will find support and opposition about equally divided in both the older political parties. It is the assertion that government should be by parties, rather than by groups and classes. Everywhere economic minorities are organizing for political control. Often two or more of them pool their interests. The bolshevik movement has brought to the front the contention that the "proletariat" should dominate government, thus setting up a class division the existence of which is denied, or at least refused recognition, by republican philosophy. Radical appeal to class consciousness has been breaking the lines of party control, and the movement imperils the democracy because it frankly proposes to substitute a class dictatorship for a system in which, theoretically at least, only the common good and common justice regardless of class, are given consideration. The peril of such a movement was at least inferentially recognized by Senator La Follette, accepted as their leader by certain groups and classes, when in 1920 he declined the nomination of the "third party" because class consciousness had dictated for it a platform not broad enough and general enough to give secure support to a national party. It will always be a fact that each class and every group will get as much as possible out of government, but it is improbable that any government frankly and openly the servant of any class can survive. We need more vision, more unselfishness, and a better conception of a nation of "free and equal" people in our party leadership, but this does not serve to successfully challenge the truth in President Harding's warning against a candid resort to class dictatorship.

No mention is made of a soldiers' bonus, but it is understood that this awaits only the conclusion of the disarmament conference releasing for soldier relief huge funds now appropriated for naval construction which, it is hoped, will never be completed. Still lower taxes are advocated. An appeal for grain for starving Russia is made. A constitutional amendment forbidding the issue of non-taxable securities is asked. The right of both labor and capital is endorsed. There is a word of hope for the disarmament conference. An industrial relations court is advocated. Doubtless the latter will provoke much controversy, as labor holds that such a court can function only by denying the right to strike, which conversely sets up the right of the state to compel "involuntary servitude." The other side of it is the interdependence of people, the right of society to demand that the machinery upon the products of which it subsists shall be operated. Lenin recognized this in his attempted dictatorship of the proletariat. Deserter from industry were shot as commonly as deserters from the army. "Bleeding Kansas" paves the way with the first industrial court. The outcome is in doubt. However, one way or another, society in the mass will one day collectively apply "the first law of nature" for its own self-preservation.

Broadly speaking, the message is that of a business man who believes in enlightened capitalism, and who is convinced that the great need of the moment, for high and low alike, is to turn the wheels of industry and sail the ships of commerce. Even those who would destroy capitalism and gamble upon some radical adventure in altruism, may be inclined to concede that as long as capitalism exists as the only going world-business institution, and hence the only source of income and sustenance, our immediate welfare depends largely upon the extent to which efforts to revive business are successful.

In the Beginning

THE struggle going on in the disarmament conference is the old battle against tradition. Progress is changed, and the inertia of human intelligence resists. Every point won comes as a concession, a giving up. Every sign of yielding in any quarter has its string. There is some give and take, but there is no simple give. The nations all have an investment in Hades. They have just now tasted its fire, and their lips burn. But they are insisting, one with another, that each will surrender its share of Hades only in proportion that others surrender theirs. And the bargaining is all, not to give up more, but to hold onto more, of the mephistophelian heritage of war. It sounds bad, but it is not so bad. The iron ring of precedent, which underlies the iron ring of war, is broken. Pessimists grieve that all Mars' damnable treasures have not been surrendered. But may we not better rejoice that, for the first time, some of them have been given up? They have been surrendered under pressure. Our safety lies in the growing momentum of that pressure. The world, its peoples, have made a demand. They have won a few points. Probably they will win more immediately. But the matter does not rest there. Civilization has made up its mind. Statesmen have yielded to popular coercion. The pressure will continue, and grow. Peace has won a foothold. Its strength resides in the will of the world's masses. Americans used to say: "Remember the Maine!" That was the war spirit. Now they say: "Remember the main issue!" It is the slogan of peace. We'll dispute about taxes, tariff, freight rates, and the price of potatoes. But these are the minutia of our political interests. Parties may rise and fall, administrations come and go, baseball pennants be won and lost, but the vital, unalterable issue will be peace, until war is made an outlaw against which the hand of all the world is raised.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
The fancy turned-up trousers of passenger brakemen will soon be a thing of the past on the Burlington line. The example of the Aurora division of the road is followed by the rest of the system. Notices have been posted in all offices of the Aurora branch requiring employees of that division working on trains to turn down their trousers. The reason given is that trousers are liable to catch in whirling belts and other machinery. The order was issued following the death of a trainman who was killed in this strange way.
Mrs. Salina Hall Moulton, for fifty-four years a resident of Onalaska, died suddenly Wednesday morning while visiting at her daughter's home in Neillsville. Manager Kennedy of the Dreamland, the new motion picture house on Caledonia street, has announced that the first show at the new theater will be given December 11. All the seats and furnishings of the theatre are in place. The theatre is equipped on the most modern plan and will seat 200 persons.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Francis Burbeck of Charles street, returned to this city yesterday after an absence of two years spent in Canada. Mr. Burbeck had a position as engineer in a saw mill on Rat river, owned by Frank Clements, a resident of Onalaska about twenty years ago.
Owing to the breaking of a chain in the pontoon bridge at Prairie du Chien the bridge cannot be closed to allow trains to go over it. While it is being repaired the mail from La Crosse sent south over the Burlington for McGregor and other Iowa points is taken across the river from Prairie du Chien in skiffs.
Henry Schnitzler of 206 Caledonia street, left this noon for New York where he will take passage for Germany. He will probably remain in Germany.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY
For some months past bricklayers and stone masons have been at work at the plant of the John Gund Brewing company and as the result of their work there are two large additions which will be used for a boiler house and engine room. There is also a large new smoke stack 130 feet high. The smoke stack is octagonal in shape and the building of it was in charge of John Spenceley, the contractor. Joseph Burgenmeister had the contract for the other building.
Mrs. Nancy Hammer died at her home in Caldwell last evening. Mrs. Hammer has been a resident of La Crosse for forty years. She was born in Bedford, Pennsylvania, in 1855.
P. A. Kroschus of Hokah, has disposed of his interest in the Journal and has invested heavily in La Crosse real estate.

The Room of Silence

BY A. W. PEACHT

Ronald Elton had not been at the quiet and comfortable Graves' farmhouse a day before he stumbled on the mystery. He had noticed that there was one pleasant room facing the broad meadows that was closed and never opened, so far as he knew during the daylight hours.

He had peeked into the room once when going around the house. It was a bedroom, spick and span, with one appealing object in it—a small pair of slippers near the foot of the bed, on the bed was a dainty nightgown, laid in neat order, waiting for some one whom he did not see.

Little Mrs. Graves, white-headed, serene of face, said nothing about it, nor did Mr. Graves, but Elton knew that the room held a secret. So one afternoon he mentioned the room in a casual way, remarking upon its pleasant view. He saw Mrs. Graves' face change, a look of sadness overspread it, a sadness so unspeakably deep that he quickly caught the old farmer's sharp signal across the table, warning him not to bring the subject up in Mrs. Graves' presence.

In the evening, in the barn, Mr. Graves turned to him, and Ronald was startled at the savage expression on the farmer's face, as he said frankly: "Never mention that room, Mr. Elton. Mother Graves is foolish about it." He thought a moment, "I might as well tell you. That was my girl, Mercy's, room. She was always kind headstrong and high-tempored, and three years ago she was bound to go visiting to a summer resort. She met a city fellow there, and fell in love with him. I didn't want her to go to that place, and when her aunt wrote up about the kind of chap he was, I told her to give him up, and she wouldn't. She wrote she wouldn't do either. And she didn't, and she never will if I have my say."

The fanned face was harsh and cold as he went on. She writes how and then, but I never open the letters. I get 'em from the box—mother's too lame to go—and I destroy 'em. If she's sorry, she'll come, and she ain't the kind to be sorry for anything."

Elton next discovered that under Mother Graves' serene exterior there were silent corridors of suffering and longing. He discovered that she kept the room over ready for the girl, who did not come, and he saw meaning in the frequent trips she made to the kitchen window from which one could see the long road that wound gently down the valley, and up which the girl would come—if she came. Three years of constant watching and longing—the thought brought Elton under the shadow that lay upon the home. He knew that the faint little peepers who waited in the silence could not wait many years more, for there is a time when the longest waiting ends.

Two weeks drew on—the length of time he had been told by his physician to rest in the country away from all work. When he mentioned one evening at supper that he must go soon, Mr. Graves looked up with sudden regret. "I'm sorry, lad, I've liked to have you around. And say, I want to take you tomorrow on a drive with that colt of mine."

Elton accepted, but he was not enthusiastic. The colt was a bit too wild for any man to drive, but he was the pride of Graves' heart.

Tomorrow came, and tomorrow's day was bright and sunny. Elton was fast but modestly, and Elton soon wished that he had found some excuse for not going. His excuse for returning came in a tumultuous moment.

He saw great headlights gleam around a wooded corner and felt himself rise in the air, sink and land with a head-taking bump. He rolled over and ran to a tree, standing and ran to a tree where two men were bending over a huddled figure, they had drawn from the crumpled wagon.

The next events took place rapidly. In the last one, the gray-headed country doctor looked down at the pale suffering man in the old-fashioned bed. "John, you are due to stay here a month. Get up before that, and your walking days are over."

The sick man took the bad news with anger, but he knew the old doctor was to be trusted. He fretted about his work, but Elton promised to stay and do the work until help could be secured. Graves looked his gratitude.

Through the days of fever and delirium that followed, Mother Graves was patient and serene as ever, but Elton could see that she was gently, but surely, falling under the shock.

Then came the evening when the tide turned along the shore of their lives. Elton and Mother Graves were at supper when a carriage drove into the yard. They thought it was the doctor's, so did not go out. When the door opened a slim girl stood before them, her bright hair waving away from under a smart dark hat. She was smiling.

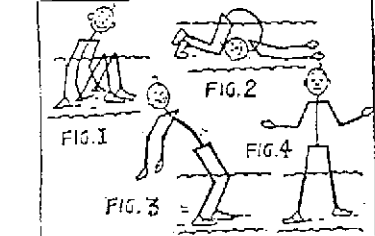

"Hello, mother, dear," she said gently.

Mother Graves rose, her face touched with the light that must be some suggestion of the light on the faces of those who meet beyond the doors of death; then she quietly fainted in the strong girlish arms that were opened to her. The silent room would be silent no more; the little slippers so patiently waiting would be used.

Tumbling
THE SNAP-UP
"You fellows have often seen acrobats on the stage get up on their feet from a sitting position by just rolling backwards, giving themselves a shove and swinging up straight," began Mr. Barker, addressing his son Rod and Rod's pal, Dan. "That's what they call the snap-up. Here's how it's done. Watch me."
"I sit down here on this tumbling mat." (See figure 1) "I place my hands on the mat, and then roll back (figure 2). Then, by giving myself a good, strong push with my hands and neck and by swinging my feet over, I lift my body off the mat, and come to a standing position." (See figures 3 and 4.)
Rod and Dan soon were able to do the stunt perfectly.
The snap-up is a good developer of the chest, neck, and arm muscles.

Dingbats
Dad was arrested for speeding, and he told the judge he could explain if he'd give him just a little time.
"Thirty days," says the judge.
"There's the guy I'm paying for," said the hen as the farmer crossed the yard.

Just Out of Prison

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON
FIFTEEN minutes ago as I was sitting here writing, a man was admitted who asked for a few minutes of my time. That is a poor way to begin, for before I give away any of my time I like to know what I am giving it for.

He said, "I am just out of prison, and I am selling these coupons at one dollar each. They are issued by a photographer and entitle you to a credit of that amount when you go to him to have photographs taken."

I asked him, "Why do you tell me that you have been in prison?"
He could not give me a very good answer.

I said, "You want something more than an honest man's chance."
This surprised him, and he said, "There are not many things which a man just out of prison can do."

I said, "That may be true and this may be one of the things he can do and an honorable one. If so, and the coupon is worth the dollar, he need feel no shame in selling it for a dollar. But the coupon is really worth the money he has no need to tell that he has been in prison."

I said, "I should not have asked you about your past. For the purpose of this business transaction it matters not to me what you have been. The people who buy coupons from you want an honest dollar's worth; that is all. I advise you never to tell any one that you have been in prison."

He will not take my advice. "That prison story is worth money to him," men tell me that who have never been in prison, but who just ought to be there. They want more than an honest man's chance.

Now, I have visited a good many prisons, and they are sad places and in general I think do more harm than good; but I have seen very few men who were sent to prison as a penalty for being good. Most men who are there richly deserve it and when they get out they deserve just as good an opportunity to reform as can safely be given them. It is hard enough for a man to keep up who has never been down and it is hard for a man who has been down to get up. And I try to help men up. But I do not like to see any man capitalize his own unworthiness. And prisoners are not the only people who do it.

I paid the dollar for the coupon. I will present it to any one who wants a photograph of himself, I have other coupons purchased from other people who wanted a few minutes of my time and, incidentally, a dollar of my money.

I wouldn't marry him unless you and mother were glad, so he planned to come over here and win you over, but the accident—oh, you don't believe it? Well, you just watch me kiss him!

THE LONDONER'S NICKNAME

As used by writers of the Elizabethan period, the word "cockney" meant a molly-coddle, or a child that had been coddled too much by its mother. Then, because men who lived in the city were supposed to be less rustic and strong than those who lived in the country, the rural population began to apply the term to the residents of London and other cities. (Gradually this meaning was restricted and localized until it was understood as being applicable only to Londoners.) The opposite term—the one applied by townsmen to the farmer—was "clown," meaning an uncouth, ill-bred man. Today the name of cockney is applied to Londoners generally, but more particularly to people of a certain class. The London cockney may not always be well educated or refined in his speech, but he is not a molly-coddle.

The Daily Lunch
Breathes there a Jane with soul so blank, who never to herself hath thought, "I'll put my gun beneath the chair and when I'm fed I'll find it there?" But when she's through her eating stint she rises with a contented grunt and quite forgets the wad she's placed beneath the chair, and thus defaced the furniture, where, so I ween, the wad will never again be seen. But 'tis disgusting, when you go to stick your own wad down below, to find some other doddered dame have snored it with their own lumps.—Philadelphia Record Ledger.

"CHRISTMASY"
The grate fire blazed and crackled. Outside the softly falling snow tapped against the windows. "Only a few days until Christmas," sighed Rod, who was stretched out in front of the fire. "Tell us a Christmas story, Mother."
"I won't tell you one, but I'll give you one to read for yourself," said Mother, and she began looking through the bookcase. "There is a story made for reading on stormy nights just before Christmas. It's a very old story. When you have read it once you will read it every Christmas season."
Rod took the book and looked at it without much interest. He idly read the first page and read: "Bob took Tiny Tim beside him in a tiny corner at the table; the two young Cratchits sat chairs for everybody, not forgetting themselves, and mounting upon their seats crammed space into their mouths lest they should shrink for goose before the time came to be helped."
"There never was such a goose!" Bob said he didn't believe there ever was such a goose cooked. Eked out by the apple sauce and mashed potatoes, it was sufficient for a whole family, indeed, as Mrs. Cratchit said with a delight (surprising the one small atom of bone on the dish) they hadn't ate it all at last. Yet every one had enough, and the youngest Cratchits, especially, were steeped in sage and onion to the eyebrows. . . .
"Hullo! A great deal of steam!" was the pudding was a splendid one, smelling like a washing day! That was a small like an eating house and a pastry cook's next door to each other with a laundress next door to that! That was the pudding. In half a minute Mrs. Cratchit entered, flushed, but smiling proudly, with the pudding like a speckled canton-bleu so hard and firm, blazing in half of half-a-quarter of ignited brandy, and bedight with Christmas holly stuck into the top.
"This sure sounds Christmasy, all right," said Rod. "Guess I'll read it from the beginning," and he turned and read the title page: "Dickens' Christmas Carol."
You can get it at the public library.

ONE REEL YARNS
IN THE WATCH CRYSTAL
"What a funny old watch," Stanford stared at the battered, cheap-looking piece which his uncle wore at the end of a fine gold chain.
"It isn't a beauty exactly," smiled Stanford's uncle. "But it has certain memories connected with it. That's why I keep it."
"Go on," urged Stanford, eager for a story from his traveling relative. "Tell me about it."
"This happened when I was in Africa," his uncle began. "I was doing engineering work in connection with the big South African railway. I was out at a lonely place where there were only two other white men. Billings, the man in charge, had been having some trouble with the native laborers, and there was a lot of up-to-date feeling. I decided I didn't want to stay there very long.
"It was my last day on that job. I came in for dinner very hungry. I found a note from Billings saying that he and his assistant were going out on an inspection tour and would meet me at a certain place at two o'clock. There were some things they wanted to go over with me before I quit.
"So, alone I sat down to dinner at the rude table in that little thatched hut. My native boy, who was always with me, served the meal and then I sent him off to get a fresh horse ready for my afternoon ride.
"I hadn't much time, so I ate hurriedly, with one eye on this old dollar watch, which I put out on the table in front of me.
"Suddenly, as I looked at my watch, I saw something that made me slide under the table as quick as you can wink your eye. I grabbed my gun just in time.
"You see, the crystal of the old watch had reflected an evil, black face close behind me—and an uplifted knife."

WILD, WOOLY WEST
NOT HALF AS BAD AS EAST HE CLAIMS
Westerners Have to go East for Excitement Declares M. E. Circuit Rider
CHICAGO, Ill.—The "wild and woolly" east was decreed Friday by Gilbert B. Traveller of Channah, New Mexico, a circuit rider for the Methodist church for many years, who is attending the Methodist Episcopal convention here.
"There was a time," he said, "when our grandmothers used to tell us tales of the terrors of the west, but how you have to come east for excitement. You can live for a year in the west and get less excitement than there is in crossing the street at State and Madison streets here.
"Some whiskey is drunk out there, but we don't have moonshine killings. Why, we haven't had a man in jail for six months.
"The women on the streets here are a little different, too. Out west a child twelve months old hangs onto its mother's skirt, but here they have to be three or four years old before they can reach that high."
Mrs. Traveller rides a circuit of 2,000 miles. He said he believed that conditions in the west are better because the family is the unit. People "stick close to their own firesides and consequently keep themselves out of trouble."

MILWAUKEE M. D.'S NONCOMMITTAL ON LORENZ INVITATION
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The Milwaukee County Medical society refused to take action one way or the other at Thursday night's meeting on the question of inviting Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted Austrian surgeon, to this city. Dr. P. H. McGovern, the newly elected president of the association, declared however, that if the invitation of Mayor Haun to come to the city were accepted doctors and hospitals here would show Dr. Lorenz every courtesy. An attack on the men handling "publicity" deals for the Austrian surgeon, was made by local doctors after the meeting.

NINETY-NINE YEAR OLD VETERAN IS BURIED AT SALEM

West Salem buried a civil war veteran who was close to the century mark when taps were sounded. The Journal says:
"Abraham Tomsen, aged 95 years, a civil war veteran well known here, died at the asylum Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Tomsen had been blind for many years as a result of disease contracted in service. He had no close relatives in West Salem. The funeral will be held Friday and burial will be made at Hamilton cemetery. The local part of the American legion will turn out and give the deceased veteran a military funeral."

SAYS RUSSIA WILL SOON RESUME PLACE AMONG THE NATIONS

Will be on Her Feet Again in Five Years Declares Communist Leader

MOSCOW.—Russia will be on her feet again and take her place among the world's nations in four or five years, says Bela Kun, formerly Hungarian Communist leader. He is now living with his wife and child in a small house attached to a hospital in the outskirts of Moscow.

He writes for the Communist press, is active in the Third International and is well thought of in the councils of the "big five," who control affairs in Russia, namely, Lenin, Trotsky, Kalandev, Djordzidze and Bukharin.

It will be recalled that Bela Kun was head of the Communist government in Hungary for five months in the spring and summer of 1919 and had to flee when the Hungarian army invaded the country and overpowered the wreckage wrought by the world war. To the correspondent of the Associated Press he said:

"We are on the right road now, here in Russia. I am not speaking as an official of the Soviet republic, but it is evident that the new economic policy will succeed. Russia will come back in four or five years."

"You have just been through Russia. You see how rich she is, rich as the United States in forests, in soil, in mines. Her people have broken down the old feudalism. They are at last free. They are being educated, and that is wealth too."

"Surely such a country should have a better chance of repaying foreign debts."

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed." A. C. Gilchrist, 708 Reed Street, Erie, Pa.

I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to do of use to my fellow men.

For years I have been suffering through hemorrhoids. I have tried everything. Peterson's Ointment for hemorrhoids. The relief power in this ointment is marvelous. It keeps me in a few days. And some of the best of the medicine, that other remedies do not seem to even relieve me, is speedily conquered.

It stops itching in five minutes and for sores and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dipepsin" for Bad Stomach, Indigestion

Take "Dipepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach, or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into a stinking mass, head dizzy and aches, you have gas, acid, and indigestion. Just take a little Dipepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Dipepsin immediately keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal lunch without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antidote is Dipepsin. Dipepsin, which costs only sixty cents for a large case at drug stores.

HORRORS OF WAR FORGOTTEN IN JOY OF FOOTBALL GAME

Russian Orphans on Way to Buenos Aires Initiated Into Delights of Play

PARIS.—One hundred Russian orphans, 75 boys and 25 girls, between the ages of eight and 12, arrived in Paris a few days ago en route for Buenos Aires, which will be their future home, they having been adopted by Argentine families.
Reunited along the frontiers of France and Galicia, one of the worst war-torn, devastated countries in Europe, the youngsters have seen four offensives and counter offensives roll over their country, revolutions and counter revolutions, murder, plague, arson and death.
In their short span of life, they are looked upon more horrors than many who live to a ripe old age and their eyes were sad, their voices surgical and even when partaking of the hearty meal placed before them at one of the Paris orphan asylums, they spoke in husky tones and shivered nervously about.
Silently, they filed into the asylum yard after their first meal in Paris, gathered about in little groups, listless, dull.

Then one of the attendants threw a football into the yard. None of them had ever seen a football before and they shied at the bouncing leather until one of the hardiest souls among the boys gave it a kick.
Ten minutes later shouts, shrieks of joy, resounding whistles of boys meeting the leather of the football, could be heard emanating from the once silent yard.
The horrors of the past six years were momentarily forgotten.

Russian Medicine
Extract from the horn of the unicorn was thought by the seventeenth century Russians to be a wonderful medicine.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or loud and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing as to your drinking and get a ounce of Paradin (trouble dissolved), and add to it 1-1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.
This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Catarrhal deafness should occur, headaches become easy and the mucus soon disappears into the throat. It is easy to pro-pore, cost little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this

JUDGING FINISHED AT POULTRY SHOW THURSDAY NIGHT

The judging of the birds at the poultry show, which is being held in the poultry building on the fair grounds, has been completed and all prizes are now on the coops so the visitors may see every winner. The La Crosse fanciers came in for their share of the prizes, which speaks well for them considering the keen competition.

There was some little delay in opening all the birds at the opening of the show on account of the overflow of the poultry building on the fair grounds and rent the entire wire cooping system from the association in that city in order to coop this show. Therefore the local cooping system has been ample but this year, after having purchased fifty pen coops, it was necessary to obtain the Sparta coops also.

Many of the outside exhibitors are attending the show and every one speaks very highly of the exhibition and the quality of birds. La Crosse show has long been recognized as a quality show and it takes good birds to win here. Judge Greenwald of Milwaukee, who judged a part of the exhibit says many of the birds here are equal to those seen at the recent National Milwaukee show.

The show will continue Saturday and Sunday and visitors are invited to inspect the birds.

FEW SPECULATIVE SECURITIES BEING SOLD IN THE STATE

Sale of $209,600,000 Worth of Stocks and Bonds Authorized by State Board

MADISON, Wis.—The issuance and sale of $209,600,000 stocks and bonds was authorized by the securities division of the railroad commission during the last year, its annual report Thursday shows.

Of this amount, securities of oil and mining companies totaled but $2,500,000, with $186,500,000 of industrial and commercial notes, $6,300,000 of finance, $5,400,000 of real estate, and $26,500,000 of public utility companies.

The commission reports that more than three-fourths of the stocks and bonds offered for sale were investment securities and not speculative.

"When it is considered that a large number of the best securities are exempt from the provisions of the law, as government and municipal bonds, securities of railroads and utilities, and other securities of the highest type, it is seen," the report says, "that the number of speculative securities sold in the state is relatively very small."

"Our experience leads us to believe that the classification of securities is a very desirable provision of the law. The classification provided for by the legislature makes it possible for one to determine that fact without having any knowledge of accounting or finance. From inquiries received from time to time by the commission as to what is meant by class A and class B securities and as to whether particular securities are class A investments or class B speculative securities, it is apparent that the people of the state are beginning to appreciate that at least there are two types of securities and that they are interested in knowing what type of security they are purchasing.

"It is reasonable to believe that as

Buy a 25-cent bottle of "Danderine." One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair and in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

time goes on and the people become educated to this classification as a means of distinguishing between investment and speculative securities, they will give greater thought to their investments than they have in the past or do now."

is inspired in a thing that is certified by the highest authority on the subject. SUSTO is thus certified.

Because it is the first Vitamine Tonic ever scientifically tested and approved after complete clinical investigation by nutritional experts in one of the leading medical colleges of America. Not an ounce of SUSTO was offered to the public until its tonic food value was definitely established after months of practical tests made by Dr. Philip B. Hawk, Professor of Physiological Chemistry of Jefferson Medical College.

This is the first time in history that a tonic reconstructive has been offered to the public backed by the full approval of world-recognized, scientific authority. It would be impossible to secure higher testimony as to the efficiency and tonic food value of SUSTO.

SUSTO contains in concentrated form the vitamins of yeast, milk, rice, eggs, beef, etc., those essential elements that all nutritional experts agree are absolutely necessary to maintain life, promote growth, preserve bodily health, strength and energy. SUSTO supplies those elements and if taken regularly each day reinforces the daily food so that people steadily gain in health and strength, eat better, sleep better and enjoy the vitality which comes only from a properly nourished body, all without the aid of medicine.

It will increase your weight, banish that run-down condition, give you strength and more vitality, make you feel better every way. Makes delicate children grow like weeds.

Ask about SUSTO at Hoeschler Brothers' Drug Store. If you try the treatment for one month, at a cost of 10c a day, and you are not in better health every way—weigh more and feel stronger—they will return your money.—Advertisement.

THIRTEEN STUDENTS
AT BARNARD PICKED FOR EDUCATION TEST

NEW YORK—Thirteen exceptional Barnard College students have been selected for an educational experiment which aims to make of them scholars and specialists in their chosen subjects. Instead of having them work at work on the prescribed courses with their 700 less brilliant sisters, Dean Virginia G. Childersleeve, who recently returned after making a study of European university methods, announced the new course, rescrutinizing the honors course of the English universities. Two much time has been spent in the past on poor students and not enough on good ones, she said. "This plan," she explained, "is an effort to avoid some of the faults characteristic of our American college system; for example, that of forcing a student to spend a great deal of her time in class rooms listening to lectures and running to and fro from various college engagements. It also attempts to counteract the tendency to think of scholarship in terms of courses, grades and points rather than subjects of fields of knowledge into half yearly fragments which are forgotten quickly after the midyear and final examinations." Among the students chosen for the new course and their subjects are: Borah, Nelly Jacobs, Gail, Switzer, Lane, English, Anna E. Lincoln, 1300; North Dearborn avenue, Chicago, and Margaret Truster, Indianapolis; French, Phyllis Hatz, Haightville, Neb.; Greek and Latin, Dorothy F. Scholze, of Providence, R. I.; Physics, Kath- erine F. Shen, 58 Elm street, Charles- town, Mass.

STATE BOARD ASKS STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF "BLUE SKY" LAW

Laxity of Local Officials Costs Citizens Thousands of Dollars is Claim

MADISON, Wis.—Local peace officials are lax in enforcement of the Wisconsin "blue sky" law, the strict application of which would have saved thousands of dollars to Wisconsin citizens, the securities division of the railroad commission says in its annual report.

A general opinion is said to exist that violation of the securities law is a minor offense, and that punishment of the offender might well be light. Only one jail sentence has been imposed since the statute took effect in 1919, the report declares.

"If a bank is robbed of a few thousand dollars the whole community is stirred and all the forces of the county are marshaled to capture and punish the offenders, but in the same locality," the report says, "a man may enter and take from the people by fraud many times the amount of money and it is treated as a minor offense."

"On many occasions this department has spent considerable money and a large amount of time in seeing that offenders are brought to justice, and we have frequently had to procure the assistance of the attorney general's office when the matter should have been handled by local authorities."

"It frequently happens that officials do not arrest persons for illegal sale of securities unless such alleged sale has been brought to their attention by this commission. This is probably due to the fact that they have not yet come to regard the offense as a serious one."

"The greatest benefit can only be secured from the administration of this law when violation of its provisions are punished with such severity that it becomes unprofitable for the unscrupulous salesmen to come into this state and attempt to make a quick campaign and get away with large sums of money taken from the people of Wisconsin through the sale of worthless securities."

DR. HADLEY EXECUTED FOR MURDER OF WIFE
RICHMOND, Va.—Dr. William A. Hadley, former army surgeon and ranchman, was put to death in the electric chair in the state penitentiary early Friday for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Sue Hadley, in November, 1918. Prison attendants declared Hadley went to his death calmly and stoically.

Composers certainly do put on airs. That's their business.

BUENOS AIRES SHOPS NOW SHOWING LATEST IN MODES FOR SPRING

City is Two Years Ahead of New York in Styles is Claim

BUENOS AIRES.—While New York's Fifth Avenue shops are displaying the latest modes in furs and crepe creations in winter hats and coats, Miss New York's cheeks tingle at the chill autumn winds, the shops in the Calle Florida of Buenos Aires are showing the latest creations in the millinery of spring and the latest designs in summer gowns. Miss Argentina's cheeks are red with the warmth of spring sun.

and in these first days of the southern spring when winter's mantle is being replaced both by nature and by humans, it is an especially lively one.

Miss Argentina arrives in the shopping district in a luxurious automobile and like her northern sister, proceeds to "window shop" from store to store, the chauffeur following his mistress as she progresses.

There are half a dozen large department stores on the Florida and numberless specialty shops, and in them she finds anything a feminine heart could desire in any city of the world, costly gowns, hats, lingerie and dainty footwear from Paris, practical household implements from the United States and jewelry, furniture and art objects from the four corners of the globe.

The fashions, so American women residents of Buenos Aires declare, are just two seasons ahead of New York. American women, arriving in Buenos Aires in the spring, they say, can buy hats, gowns and shoes which they will find on returning six months later.

to the New York spring are "just coming in."

"Buenos Aires from the beginning has kept about three inches ahead of New York in shortening skirts," says the wife of an American business man who makes frequent trips with her husband between the two cities. "The first time I came down here three years ago, I was quite shocked at the shortness of the skirts the Argentine women were wearing. But when I got back to New York a few months later I found American women had also shortened theirs."

"They have been wearing almost knee high skirts in Buenos Aires for more than a year, but it was only on my last trip home this summer that I saw them as short in New York as here. Argentine women refuse to be behind anybody in dress and I think the Parisian style dictators, recognizing the opposition of the seasons, give them a six months' advantage."

Caution is a great asset in fashion, especially if you are the fish.

Sundials Really of Little Use

The sundial is like nothing so of- ficient as a watch. It never was very much of an aid to man as a time in- dicator. I never professed to do more than tell the time of day, be- cause it would not tell the time of night, and on old sundials, as well as many new ones, is this sentence, often in Latin: "I mark time but sun- ny hours."

So that on foggy days or on days of gloom and cloudy skies, the "emotion" which is that triangular piece, whose shadow points out the time on the dial, casts no shadow.

From a novel—"She handed him an empty envelope, from which he extracted a letter."

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

Parents Visit Schools
That citizens of La Crosse are interested in their schools is being well illustrated this week. All buildings are reporting many visitors in the classrooms. The Washington and Hamilton schools housed a capacity attendance at their P. T. A. meetings Tuesday evening.

The Franklin school entertained one hundred and twenty parents at a mothers' meeting Tuesday afternoon. Miss Josephine Hutzgen spoke upon vocational guidance. The Logan school reports an attendance of eighty mothers at a Mothers' Meeting held in the Logan building Wednesday evening.

A Study of Occupations
Vocational guidance work has been started in the Logan Junior High school. The course includes the study of every major occupation. The boys and girls are learning something about the preparation necessary for the various occupations, the supply and demand for workers, the chances for promotion, and the wages. Finally, these students are studying themselves to determine the occupation for which they are best fitted.

The pupils are showing a keen interest in the work. Such study will undoubtedly help our boys and girls to choose an occupation where they will give the best service to themselves and the community. It will reduce the number of square pegs in round holes.

Do You Smoke?
BY DR. G. R. REAY

The smoking of tobacco is so widespread that no doubt some will be much surprised that tobacco is a very active poison, thirty grains of tobacco being sufficient to cause death.

The poison gets into the blood through the absorbents of the tongue and rancous membrane of the mouth, also through the lungs where the smoke is inhaled. The symptoms of poisoning differ, as the amount of the poison happens to be small or large.

The growth of the body and the mind is retarded by tobacco; this is recognized by all scientific articles dealing with the subject of infantilism. Parents should keep this in mind, for many cases of illness in the young.

child and more cases than we suspect of retarded or stunted development are due to poisoning from the smoking of tobacco in the presence of children.

The claim that tobacco unfavorably affects the morals is not proved by a study of the recorded action of the drug. It does cause mental irritability, forgetfulness, discontent and despondency.

There have been a number of studies made of university students, comparing users and non-users of tobacco. The results have been uniform, the findings always showing that the non-users grew in height more rapidly, increased in weight faster, showed larger chest measurement and stood higher in scholarship, and mental tests proved them to have a quicker mental action. These differences varied from ten to twenty-six per cent in favor of those who did smoke.

No coach of athletic teams overlooks the effect of tobacco. They insist that the men drop smoking during the training and playing season.

The coaches say the use of tobacco causes the men to lose their breath and tire out more quickly, and that they are less able to seize sudden opportunities presented during the game; in other words, their mental action is slowed up.

The loss of property in our country, due to the smoking habit must be considerable. I well remember a medical officer in my company who made up his cot without noting a cigarette lying therein. I recall the hunt made because of the odor of burning cloth and how it failed until the fire, caused by the cigarette, had burned a large hole through his six new blankets. Again, on the return trip from France, the first night out, the hoarse voice of the ship's whistle summoned us to man the boats. Out of deep sleep we arose quickly at that dread summons. After a few minutes at the boat assigned me, we were dismissed, mighty glad that the fire, started by a cigarette down below, had been quelled under control. That wide surface of water did not look good to me at that time of night.

Each user of tobacco would do well to take an inventory of his own physical condition, to consider well what effect his own use of tobacco may be having upon those with whom he comes in contact in his home, office or at social gatherings, and each young man especially should consider carefully whether he wishes to take on such a handicap to his growth, health and efficiency.

ELECTRICAL LINE TO SPARTA READY TO SERVE JUICE

Local Utility to Build Another Line from Sparta to City of Viroqua

La Crosse and Sparta are now connected by an electrical transmission line. The Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company announced today completion of the line from the new substation on Indian hill to the city of Sparta, and at the same time made known the fact that work has been started on a line between Sparta and Viroqua.

The line from this city to Sparta furnishes electrical power to Bangor and Rockland as well as Sparta. The line is connected with the La Crosse electrical plant and the hydro-electric transmission line running from the Wisconsin power plant near Chippewa Falls. Sparta now has a water power and steam electrical plant of its own, as well as the augmented service furnished by the transmission line from La Crosse.

The transmission line now being built by the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company south from Sparta will furnish electricity to Leon, Ashton and Viroqua.

BRITISH PUBLICIST FALLS VICTIM TO PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Sir Arthur Pearson Draws in Bathtub When Fall Stuns Him

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—Sir Arthur Pearson is dead, as the result of an accident at his home here. While in his bath he slipped, striking his head against a faucet. Strained, he fell into the water and was drowned before aid could reach him.

Cyril Arthur Pearson was born on February 24, 1866, and was made a baronet in 1916. He was one of the outstanding publicists in England until his eyesight failed in 1914. He founded Pearson's Weekly and other well known publications, among which probably the best known is the Daily Express of London. Another of his properties which he acquired by purchase, was the London Standard, which he consolidated with the St. James Gazette. He disposed of this property following his affliction.

At the time of his death Sir Arthur was president of the National Institute for the Blind, and during the European war he organized measures for the benefit of blinded sailors and soldiers.

Public Debate

ARE WE BEING KIDDED?

Mr. Editor: I noticed in your paper last week a couple of articles relating to the wonders and rights of the bicyclist and the automobilist and the idea was advanced that all bicycles and horse driven vehicles should be required to carry head lights and tail lights. Now that is a good idea. A very good idea, and one that should have been advanced and required by law many moons ago, but why not fix the same decoration upon that other menace to the public art of "chitting'er up" that public nuisance, the pedestrian?

I run a motor driven vehicle myself and so I speak from experience when I say that if all leg powered people, old or young, male or female, white or brunette, were required by law to wear a chest light of at least twenty candle power, and a red or green light in the small of the back, it would save a nervous strain upon the internal mechanism of dozens of ears every day.

For instance I was returning to the city the other night by the way of a street this is mostly given over to use of cars, and so of course I was not expecting anything in the way of a leg-bagger to butt into me, when, which like a ghost they walked right into the street as if he owned it, a creature in the garb of a human being. Of course I had to swerve on the brakes and do the other little stunts that play the very dickens with a good car when you do 'em sudden like that.

Now if that fellow had been lit up with a chest light and a back light I would have seen him before he was right on to me.

"The darned cuss had me pulled too," he told the judge that I was all lit up with "moonshine."

Yours for progress,
J. M. WRIGHT.

Altogether too fussy

Chinese Opium Den IN CHICAGO RAIDED BIG HAUL IS MADE

Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of Dope is Confiscated; 30 Arrested

CHICAGO, Ill.—Thirty Chinese were arrested, thousands of dollars' worth of drugs confiscated, and one of the most elaborate opium-smoking establishments ever discovered in Chicago broken up, by a raid early Friday led by Inspector William H. Williams and a dozen assistants.

A small five story building on the northern fringe of Chicago's Chinatown had been remodeled with scores of tiny rooms partitioned off on the upper floors. Repeated search of the labyrinth passages disclosed caches of opium and yeast, many Chinese still smoking and others still leaving rooms where smoking pipes had been dropped.

One room was stacked high with cans of crude opium. Most of the Chinese declared they had recently come from California and Oregon.

Several hours were occupied by the inspectors in searching the building for drugs, and a truck load was confiscated. Inspector Williams declared that at retail prices the seized drugs were valued at more than $200,000.

PRISONER UNDER DEATH SENTENCE MAKES GET-AWAY

Offers Freedom to Other Prisoners Before Fleeing from Arkansas Penitentiary

SIX TAKE ADVANTAGE OF CHANCE AND MAKE BREAK FOR LIBERTY

Six Negroes Under Death Sentence Refuse to Escape

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Tom Slaughter, notorious lander, under death sentence for killing a trusty guard at the state prison farm at Tucker, escaped from the penitentiary here at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning, taking six other convicts with him. For five hours prior to his escape Slaughter ruled the penitentiary walls like a czar and offered liberty to all convicts who wanted it.

Five of the men who fled with Slaughter were negroes, and one a white man. Four of the negroes were under death sentence. The six Phillips county negroes under death sentence for participating in the race riots in 1919 refused to escape.

Some one smuggled a revolver to Slaughter in the death cell and thus armed he outwitted the trusty guards assigned to watch him and took complete charge of the penitentiary. Warden E. H. Dempsey and Mrs. Dempsey and their son and two daughters were locked in the death cell by the bandit.

Slaughter escaped in an automobile belonging to Mrs. Dempsey, which was standing in the penitentiary yard. Later in the morning Slaughter passed through Benton about twenty-five miles south of Little Rock and engaged in a gun battle with the city marshal, who had been notified of the escape and was on the lookout.

THE BOY SCOUT AND HIS RELIGION

(By Rev. E. C. Dixon)
Religion has a place in the life of a Boy Scout because he believes in a life of order and of law. As patriotism is a fine thing because it means regard for the laws and institutions of the country in which you live, so religion is a fine and beautiful thing because it means regard for the higher law and the universal order which take in all nations and peoples and all reality of every sort in the creation.

The Scout may have been prejudiced against religion because he has seen bad expressions of it and so has had his mind confused. He may have seen ignorant, bigoted, sectarian, or even heathen forms of religious life so that religion has seemed like something for which he could have no possible use. There is nothing sadder than these forms of religion observed in many lands where the universal thought of God or the gods is that there is a bad power in the world which we must keep away from us if possible. God is thought to be in the earthquake, the pestilence, the storm so that when any one of those dreaded things appears it is thought of as the act of God and sacrifices are made and services are rendered to persuade God to go away and trouble the people no more.

Much more common than the ideas just mentioned is the thought that worship is religion, a very great mistake. Worship is a manifestation of religion if it be true worship and religion is very important but whatever religion we have at any time we have at the time. Just as the boy who is at work in a factory or in school has just as much love for his mother there as he has when he is making a Christ, was present for her.

Whatever the measure or degree of love it is there all the time whether being openly manifested or within the heart waiting for expression. It is the Scout's belief in law that especially leads him to an appreciation of true religion for true religion means a belief in the existence of God, a purpose to obey his law and a committing of the life to his care.

Differ in Religion
Just as people differ in every other quality, they differ in their religion. Some may have only one of the above qualities and some have all three; some have the qualities in a very dim and feeble way and others have them in such a way as to affect the whole life.

Belief in the existence and authority of God which is the necessary foundation of religion may after all exist without any religion that is worth while. As the Scriptures have it, "The devils believe and tremble." Every foreign nation believes in the greatness and power of the United States but that does not make them patriotic Americans.

Real religion begins to show itself when the scout, who is a learner, always begins to inquire what God would have him do that he may honor or God with actual service. Laws are made to be obeyed. It has been said at times that we are under a reign of law. We are rather under the reign of God while the laws which are sometimes thought of as governing are in reality but the ways in which God governs.

When a scout falls out of a tree he does not break the law of gravitation; he illustrates it, and if he is a good scout he will, after such a fall, endeavor to select a tree or a limb that is strong enough to bear his weight in opposition to the attraction of gravitation.

Many laws of God are not as plain as the law of gravitation but they are all just as real as that one, and they become plain as life develops and the experiences of life increase. It is very true that we think of religion as finding its highest expression in spiritual forms but it is wholly a mistake to suppose that its only expression is in such connection. The Boy Scout is not so much concerned at first about spiritual values and his religion is chiefly an expression of obedience to law in the every day relations of life.

The Boy Scout and His Religion
It is here that we get the idea of reverence. If we believe that the whole creation is the handiwork of God we shall be anxious to discover all the forms of law whereby God manifests himself in that creation. And if the thing is important enough to engage the continuous attention of God it cannot be beneath our notice. The reverent person, therefore, is the one who has high regard for every manifestation of the divine, great or small. He will be reverent, but he will be equally reverent in the forest or in the field. This makes it evident that reverence is not always the same thing but it is the respect and regard for the whole creation that causes us to do the thing that is suitable to whatever place or situation in which we may chance to be.

The Bible makes a frequent reference to matters which are often overlooked in our thought of religion. Thus the old prophet, when given a vision of the Kingdom of God did not see everybody in church or at prayer but among other things he saw "the streets of the city filled with boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." Play is a large part of the life of childhood and it has its place in all life. The prophet very rightly thought of a time and place where boys and girls could play without fear in perfect freedom. Such play is as acceptable to God as any other form of activity.

Good Turn Religious
The Good Turn, of which so much is made in scouting, is essentially religious in character. That is to say the one doing the good turn recognizes thereby the obligation to look upon every other human being as a fellow member of the family of God. So that we have the brotherhood of Man and the Fatherhood of God, provided for in our thought when in the name of God we render any helpful service to our fellow man.

Our forms of worship may differ widely. Some with splendid ritual and others with little form and both with mind and heart turned toward the law and life of God.
Some with music and others in silence coming before the King of Kings and he who is the author of beauty and harmony, well pleased with the harmonious life of love.
The Boy Scout reverently recognizes the earnest endeavor of every other who in his own way is seeking after God and desiring to do his will.

A New England Murder Is Agitating Fifteen Nations

"Save Sacco and Vanzetti!" Most of the countries of Europe and South America, even Mexico, it is said, are better acquainted with this slogan than is America, where it originated. Within a few weeks a Massachusetts court will decide whether the two Italians convicted of murder shall have a new trial, and in the meantime bomb outrages, boycotts of American goods, and general strikes throughout the world will emphasize the international Communist conviction that the men are being railroaded to death, not because of what they did, but because of what they thought.

Thus far, bombs have been sent to the American Ambassador in Paris and to the American Consul-General in Lisbon. American representatives in Havana, Peru, Buenos Aires and Juarez, Mexico have been warned that their own deaths will follow the execution of the two Italian Communists. American goods are boycotted in several places in South America; demonstrations have been held in front of the American Embassy in Brussels; 5,000 Parisian police were mobilized in Paris following the receipt of a bomb and some fifty threatening letters by Ambassador Herrick; many men and women who had gathered in Rome to protest against the "American judicial murder" were injured, and more than 400 arrested, in a conflict with the police.

What is the basis of this international protest, which started with "three men in a dimly lit, scantily furnished office in Boston"? There is a comprehensive article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, graphically illustrated, which presents the history of this conventional murder case which has disturbed many governments. All the opinions upon the case are presented, and, all in all, it represents one of the strangest instances of the far-reaching influences of propaganda that the present generation has witnessed.

By KENNETH CLARK
CHICAGO.—In choosing a 1921 all-western conference football team it is best to start building, as the champion team did from one man—Bunge Slater, the giant negro tackle. All experts concede Slater is the greatest tackle who ever tried a western gridiron.

Kanto Kookke, coach of Notre Dame gave Slater credit for the only defeat the South Bend team has met in three years. Bunge Slater has put four men playing against Slater alone and yet the giant negro made such holes in the stiff Notre Dame line that Slater went through for long gains, often standing up straight. Bob Zupke, coach of Illinois had the same experience when Slater conquered his team.

Four other men on the Iowa team have established enviable records early through the fact they played behind, around or next to Slater.

Devine is Greatest
Asbury Devine, the west's greatest quarterback since Kearsall, and this year's leading point scorer, must be stepped to the left and behind his dusky tackle, pull his triple threat of running, kicking and passing, or Slater, kicking, or passing to Bolding, or send his great battering ram, Locke, through the hole Slater invariably opens.

The fourth man is Glenn Devine, who could circle Bolding's end and untested by the coaches, the man, taken care of by Slater. However, G. Devine is the only one of the five who can not be placed on the first team.

Locke is undoubtedly one of the greatest plunging fullbacks ever developed in the west. He hits the line like a Longman or a Redek.

With four halfbacks needed to fill the back field, the west is without an outstanding back for 1921. Williams of Wisconsin would be an ideal choice, but he is not a runner.

Bunge Has Edge
There is little to choose between Bunge of Wisconsin and Vick of Michigan at center. A late start on the part of Vick gives the place to the Wisconsin man.

Thus we have on the offensive A. Devine, who can kick, run or pass; Williams, a great broken field runner and Thomas and Locke, plungers. With Devine, Bunge, Slater, Myers and Bolding have shown their exceptional ability on the receiving end. Devine would do the kicking.

STALEY LINE TO FACE TEST IN CANTON BATTLE
CHICAGO, Ill.—The great Staley line, which has outplayed every set of forwards sent against it this season, will have its heaviest test Sunday when the Canton Bulldogs, the formidable Canton Bulldogs, the Staleys will be called upon to drive back a vicious attack at the Canton line. As well as outcharge an array of line talent that is considered the most powerful in the east.

Pen and to send the Staleys have a fighting outfit. Its work has improved with each game until today the various line-men are as closely watched for features by the crowds as the star players.

The Staleys have worked hard all week and hope for a solid footing, so the great back field, the Staleys, Staley, Staley and Staley can hit its stride.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT
DENVER, Col.—Harry Mills of New Orleans, negro heavyweight, won a decision over Bill Tate of Chicago in a twelve round bout.

BRINGING UP FATHER

YOST REFUSES TO PICK ALL-WESTERN ELEVEN THIS YEAR

Believes Practice Strains Rather Cements Relations Between Big Ten Teams

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Coach Fielding H. Yost, for twenty years director of the University of Michigan's football eleven, has picked his last All-American Conference football team.

Coach Yost made known his decision when asked to select a mythical eleven, but he has his custom in past years.

"It should be the duty of coaches to foster a spirit of good will among the various members of the Big Ten, and the selection of All-Conference teams is likely to strain, rather than cement the so relation," Yost said. "No coach sees all the teams in the conference in action each year and therefore he is unable to make selections agreeable to all the schools."

"Another matter to be considered is that each coach is tempted to be a little partial toward his men. That is human nature and it is hard to overcome. I believe it is better for all concerned not to try to pick an All-Conference eleven."

"The practice eventually might lead to bickering among the conference members and that is a danger all should avoid in every way possible."

JOHN M'GRAW CLINCHES CLAIM TO BEING GREATEST BASEBALL TRADER THROUGH CLOSING OF RECENT DEAL

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—At the height of his playing career John J. M'Graw, then a manager, a list of all the players bought, sold and traded by M'Graw since he joined the Giants would read like the roster of a big league.

During the last seventy-two hours the same John J. M'Graw as vice president of the New York National league baseball club, has paid $175,000 for two players, one of whom will not be available for the Giants until 1923.

In the spread of these two deals is epitomized the progress of baseball in two decades.

In the purchase of Helme Groh from Cincinnati for a reported price of $100,000 and two players and Jim O'Connell of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, for $75,000, M'Graw has clinched his claim to being the greatest baseball trader. In his long career as manager and officer of a local National league club he has established a record as more than a million dollars daily.

DEC. 30 LAST DAY FOR FILING CATTLE INDEMNITY CLAIMS

MADISON, Wis.—Farmers with indemnity claims for infected cattle slaughtered by the state department of agriculture in 1919 and 1920 must present their claims before January 1, the department announced. It says the department appropriated $27,000 to meet the claims for which the original appropriation ran short in 1920, and the new appropriation expires January 1.

English women, it is said, consume more than a million cigarettes daily.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE
PLANS NEW POLITICAL
POLICY IN WISCONSIN

Will Not Select Candidates But
Will Endorse One of those Already in Field

MADISON, Wis.—Leaders of the Nonpartisan League are considering a new political policy to be used in Wisconsin, which they believe may give the organization greater influence during the 1922 campaign, Chester C. Platt, league spokesman, explained Friday.

Instead of selection of league candidates by the executive committee, a policy followed in the past, the league now propose to wait until the candidates have entered the field, and then officially endorse those who most nearly agree with the principles of the organization.

This policy, Mr. Platt says, is being considered as a means of eliminating the concentrated opposition that might be centered against the league candidate if he were selected by the executive committee, and entered the election as an organization man.

Reports that the Nonpartisans were considering withdrawal from politics were said by Mr. Platt to be without foundation, inasmuch as the sole purpose of the organization, he explained, was to secure advantages for the farmer through political action and regardless of party.

There will probably be a convention in Madison next June to draw up a league platform and to endorse candidates, according to Mr. Platt. Smaller conventions in each assembly and senatorial district are also being considered, he said.

The present strength of the Nonpartisan League in Wisconsin is not definitely known, nor is there any indication of the strength it may have in the coming political campaign.

Just what attitude Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine will take toward the organization when the time for action comes, is a matter of much speculation here, but without any authoritative indication of their stand.

Both Governor Blaine and Senator

La Follette will again be endorsed by the league, Mr. Platt says.

"Never a cold all winter"

"You know our boy Bert—what a spindling kid he used to be—never liked to play out-of-doors.

"It's so cold, daddy," he would say, standing 'round with fingers all nipped and blue, while the other chaps tore and raced, having the time of their lives.

"His mother tried to say it was because he was so much more refined than the other children, but even she broke down when his teacher sent a note: 'Bert must stay home from school until he gets over his cold.'

"That was the trouble: he never got over it. It was one cold right after another.

"Then one day I heard about

REAL BREAD

—how it's made from such good strengthening fuel-foods that, it just naturally warms up starved out tissues—sends new blood and activity tingling and dancing through sluggish veins. That very day I brought a loaf home.

"Why not some milk-toast for breakfast, old lady?" I suggested. Oh, yes, I'm artful. 'All right,' said mother.

"All the time Bert was eating his bowl-ful, I kept an eye on him and what do you think, even by the time he'd finished, there was some real, honest red in his cheeks.

"Mother, mayn't I go out to play?" he asked—the first time in months.

"That was the beginning. Now he eats his three bowls-ful a day regularly—and did you hear about that snow-fort he built? I tell you. Some boy. His colds? Oh, he doesn't have them any more. We're all fresh-air fiends—and Bread-fiends—at my house."

Vodvil—Billy B. Purl Show of 1922.
Strand—All-star cast in "Guile of Women." Fox comedy. "Hold Me Tight."

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN—RIVOLI
 No picture in which Elaine Hammerstein has appeared has received a more complete vote of approval than did her latest Selznick picture, "Handcuffs or Kisses," which Thursday began a three day engagement at the Rivoli theatre. A fast moving, actionful story, with intense dramatic situations, cool direction, strong support and realistic scenic effects, many of which were massive studio sets, all contributed to a success that was complete from beginning to end.

The story was written by Thomas Edgewood and first appeared in "Young's Magazine." It deals with life in a girls' reformatory and the fiction piece closely resembles some of the actual happenings that may have transpired at Bedford Reformatory and other large institutions.
 Miss Hammerstein's interpretation of the part assigned her is both artistic and human. As the abused inmate, who was unjustly committed to a two-year term she at once wins the sympathy of her audience and holds it until she is finally cleared of the false charges that have been lodged against her. There also is a pretty love theme that culminates as all pretty love plots must end, and the action throughout is both swift and dramatic.

SONG REVIEW AT MAJESTIC
 The "show business" is of such longstanding that theater patrons sometimes get the feeling that they have "seen it all"; but those who attended the Majestic, the last half of the week to witness the showing of the "Connecticut Yankee," were most agreeably surprised and pleased when Walter Goetzinger introduced his new stunner "Popular Song Review."

It is very simple, merely in the showing on the screen of a chorus slide during the playing of a popular song.
 Regarding the "popular song review," Mr. Goetzinger says:
 "The 'popular song review' has not a 'Community Song' for its aim. Its object is to furnish a little relaxation and variety for the audience and also to acquaint them with the melody and words of the best popular songs of the day. It gets the music and slides direct from the publishers and hope that the 'popular song review' will prove to be help to the general public in the purchase of the best popular music for their own use."

Judging from the volume of song and applause which has greeted the "popular song review" thus far, it is safe to say that this departure from the regular routine will remain a permanent and very much appreciated feature of the Majestic program.

"NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"—LA CROSSE
 During the action of "Life," the big William A. Brady melodrama picture released by Paramount, which is being shown at the La Crosse theatre, as an added attraction with the Stock Company's production of "Nothing But The Truth," a spirit materialization is arranged by a detective to force a superstitious crook to confess his knowledge of a murder. This is a remarkable scene and the various details have been photographed with startling effect. The picture goes over big, as does the laughing stage success of the Theatre stock company.

NORTH WOODS FILM AND VODVIL AT THE RIVIERA
 A powerful drama of the great northwest, directed by Harry Revier, is the attraction at the Riviera today and Saturday. Roy Stewart, who has achieved an enviable reputation for powerful character delineations, gives a strong and commanding performance in the dual role of Manpope, the outlaw, and John Whitley, his twin brother. New York critics unanimously agreed that

MOTHER!
 Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Harry mother. Even a sick child loves the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It constipates, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation Fig Syrup.

"Chico," who is now nine years old, has spent six years of his life working in motion pictures. Salvatore Yozza, his master, might have eked out a precarious living by leading the simian about the streets, but Salvatore used his head and put both his hand organ and his pet in the movies, in "Pilgrims of the Night." "Chico" plays a principal role and plays it in a most human manner. His intelligence is so great and his actions so interesting that it makes one pause and think perhaps Darwin was right.

WILL ROGERS—STRAND
 There's a new expression in the vocabulary of Culver City and the other haunts of motion picture celebrities. If a thing is pleasing, the stars are apt to say it's pretty "forked." Will Rogers, Goldwyn's cowboy-humorist-star, started the expression, which is a range term originally applied by the cowboys to a bad horse. Its original significance was that the horse was "crooked," applied to people or things it has a favorable meaning. Another expression which Rogers has injected into California is "Knock on 'em," meaning to hurry. It comes from the cowboy customs of kicking a horse in the flanks to make him go. Rogers may be seen at the Strand today and Saturday in his latest picture, "Guile of Women."

in this production Stewart rises to the height of his artistic career. Great interest is aroused by this production because it is Mr. Stewart's first appearance in a dual role that demanded such a wide distinction in the portrayal of the two characters in this vivid drama. Mr. Stewart deserves credit for the introduction of a novelty in character interpretation, and for his honest effort to deviate from the conventional type that has too often found its way to the silver sheet. He is supported by an all star cast headed by charming Louise Lovely. Billy B. Purl Show of 1922, offering fine bits of vodvil, also is on the bill.

"PILRIMS OF THE NIGHT"—CASINO
 If you are not a believer in Darwinian theory, "Chico," the ringtail monkey actor in "Pilgrims of the Night," at the Casino today and Saturday, may help convince you that man is descended from monkeys.
